

CIRCLES FOR RECONCILIATION

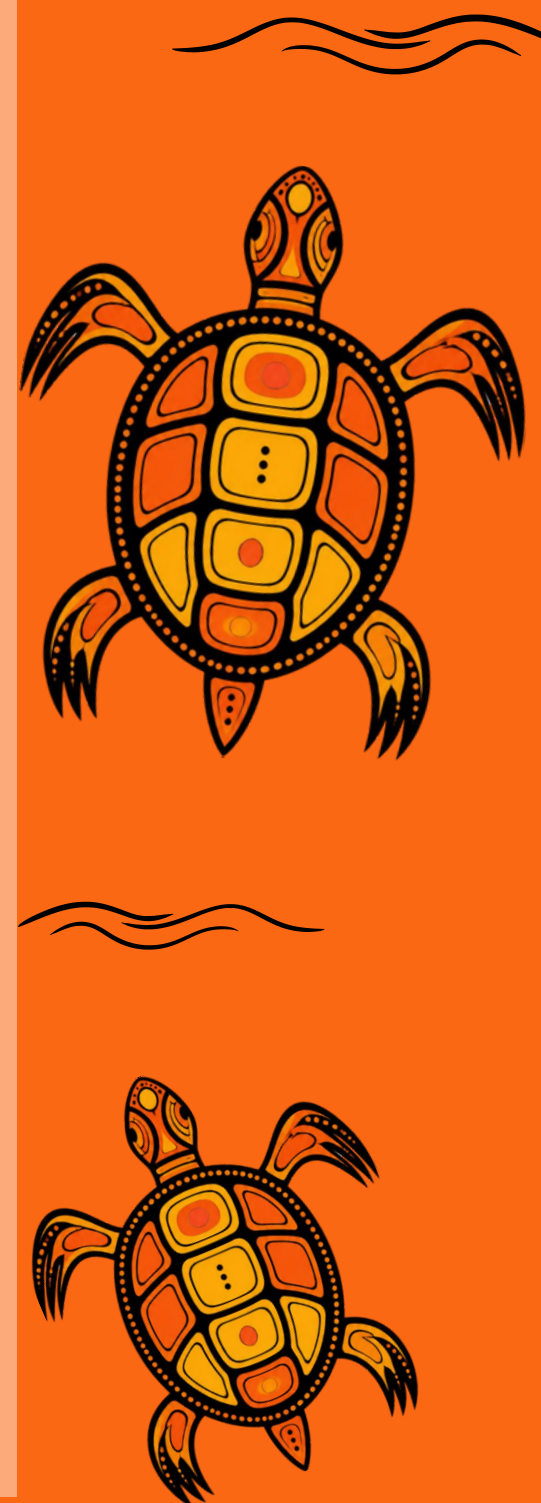

CONFRONTING RESIDENTIAL SCHOOL DENIALISM

Featuring: Sean Carleton, PH. D

Dr. Sean Carleton is an award-winning scholar and Assistant Professor of History and Indigenous Studies at the University of Manitoba. His research explores how colonialism, capitalism, and education have shaped Canadian society, with a particular focus on residential schools, public education, and Indigenous-settler relations. He holds a PhD in Canadian Studies from Trent University and BA and MA degrees in History from Simon Fraser University.

In this webinar, Carleton will speak on confronting residential school denialism, exploring how denialism takes shape, why it persists, and how historical evidence and education can help us challenge misinformation and support truth and reconciliation.

Join us to deepen our understanding, confront denialism, and reflect on how we can each contribute to truth, learning, and reconciliation.

Friday, October 23, 2026
12:00 - 1:30 p.m. CT
Live on Zoom
Register on Eventbrite

Registration fee:
$25.00 (single)
$50.00 (groups, max of 3 people)
Please click here to purchase your webinar ticket on Eventbrite.

For more information:
Circlesforreconciliation.ca

